

NATIVE PLANTS FOR RIPARIAN HABITATS

If you have a stream on your property, or a low, boggy patch, riparian plants are for you. Riparian areas are often cool and shady with large trees, numerous understory shrubs, perennial plants, and rushes by the water's edge. These plants are not drought tolerant, in fact, most will tolerate some degree of soggy conditions. The lower on the bank it is listed as growing, the more inundation the species can withstand.
